Where they stand, and what to develop

HOW TO USE THIS DEVELOPMENT GUIDE

This report turns the assessment into a development plan. Everyone, at every score, can grow - use the advice on the next pages to focus effort where it pays off most. Start with the "Develop" competencies, agree one or two with Noura, and revisit progress over the coming quarter. Treat strengths as assets to extend and to share with the team, not areas to leave alone.

The clearest development priorities are Clear & Adaptive Communication (2/5), Coaching & Talent Growth (2/5). Pick one or two to focus on first - the per-competency advice that follows gives concrete actions.

Competency by competency

Clear & Adaptive Communication

DEVELOP

 2/5 · Development Needed · PEOPLE

A development priority. This sits below the role bar today, so focused effort here will have the most impact.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Coach the 'recommendation first, then the why' pattern; rehearse a 90-second update before senior meetings.
- > After each key update, give specific feedback on whether the core message landed first.
- > Have them rewrite one dense brief into five lines and a single, explicit ask.

Coaching & Talent Growth

DEVELOP

 2/5 · Development Needed · PEOPLE

A development priority. This sits below the role bar today, so focused effort here will have the most impact.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Agree one development-only conversation per direct report each month - questions, not solutions.
- > Pair them with a strong coach on the team to observe how the thinking gets handed back.
- > Ask them to set one stretch goal with a report and support it rather than solve it.

Sound Judgement

SUSTAIN

 3/5 · Competent · THINKING

Solid and on target. Reliable in familiar situations; development here is about sustaining it under greater complexity and pressure.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Stretch this with higher-stakes, time-boxed decisions and debrief the reasoning, not just the outcome.
- > Ask them to narrate the risks they weighed on a live call so the judgement becomes visible and repeatable.

Planning & Prioritisation

SUSTAIN

 3/5 · Competent · RESULTS

Solid and on target. Reliable in familiar situations; development here is about sustaining it under greater complexity and pressure.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Ask for one explicit contingency on every plan they own, and review dependencies weekly for a month.
- > Have them sequence a genuinely over-loaded backlog and defend the order to the team.

Resilience Under Pressure

SUSTAIN

3/5 · Competent · SELF

Solid and on target. Reliable in familiar situations; development here is about sustaining it under greater complexity and pressure.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Give early exposure to a high-pressure situation, then debrief on what kept them steady.
- > Have them name their personal early-warning signs of strain and a simple reset routine.

Forward Strategy Setting

LEVERAGE

4/5 · Strength · THINKING

A strength to build on. This is applied consistently and above the role bar - the goal is to extend it through stretch work and chances to model it for others.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Hand them a cross-functional problem where the long-term view is the hard part, and have them present the trade-offs.
- > Ask them to mentor a peer on connecting day-to-day decisions back to the strategy.

Critical Analysis

LEVERAGE

4/5 · Strength · THINKING

A strength to build on. This is applied consistently and above the role bar - the goal is to extend it through stretch work and chances to model it for others.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Give them the least-structured analysis on the team and ask for the single assumption that matters most.
- > Have them run a short 'how I pressure-test a case' session so the team learns the approach.

Outcome Ownership

LEVERAGE

4/5 · Strength · RESULTS

A strength to build on. This is applied consistently and above the role bar - the goal is to extend it through stretch work and chances to model it for others.

DEVELOPMENT FOCUS

- > Give them end-to-end ownership of a deliverable with real ambiguity and let them set the checkpoints.
- > Have them model their planning approach for a colleague who struggles to close things out.
